Dear Colleague,

Your cordial card, as well as the offprint that you kindly sent me, only reached me today after my return from England. I would like to express my appreciation for both. The letter from July of last year must have fallen victim to my move, because I did not receive it. In any case, I sincerely thank you for this.

I would like to visit you during the winter semester, but I'm so busy that I can't. I hope that I can make up for what I have missed in the course of these past months.

With best regards, I remain yours faithfully,
Hevesy
